Mr. A. R. Gould
Business Manager
U. S. News & World Report
2300 N Street, N.W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Gould:

Thank you for your letter of 12 August to General Cabell, requesting verification of mailing address for your magazine.

General Cabell has asked that his name be removed from your honor roll to receive complimentary copies of "U. S. News & World Report." While he sincerely appreciates your thoughtfulness, he does have access to the magazine at his office.

Very truly yours,

Dear General Cabell:

Periodically we make a check to make sure copies of our magazine are being received at the right addresses -- especially copies going to our honor roll on which your name is carried.

Please let us know whether the address at which you are now receiving "U.S. News & World Report" is correct, or whether or not you prefer to have it come to your home or office in the event it is not now being received at the place you would like to have it.

We would appreciate a letter from you and while writing, we would be glad to have any comment you care to make about the usefulness of the magazine to you.

Very truly yours,

A. R. Gould
Business Manager
